A Grassroots Response to the Opioid Crisis
in Far Southwestern Virginia

RELATIONSHIPS ARE GOLD!! SOCIAL CAPITAL!!

Who do you know and who do you need to know?

- Get involved in your local coalitions, and your regional coalition if you have one; in civic organizations; book clubs; anywhere you can connect!
- Go to open recovery meetings and recovery court graduations! – Learn about the struggles and triumphs of addiction and recovery from people with lived experience and celebrate the victories with them! The best way to find a solution to a problem is to talk to those affected by the problem.

- Participate in your county's Leadership program, and in the Commonwealth's program through Lead Virginia!
- Attend Town Council and County Board of Supervisors Meetings; get to know your representatives and thank all of them for their leadership!! Create relationships with them – add them to your social capital and you to theirs! You are stronger and better together!
- Consider and tap into your social capital to make good things happen!

Community Assessment

Coordinated efforts to learn where the gaps exist

Ask local, state, and national government representatives

No need to replicate what already exists – be creative and find what has not been done and work and partner to fill the empty spaces

Combine efforts from those at various levels of care to ensure entities are working together from one level to the next to ensure transitions are seamless
